

Sign at Entrance to Truck Trail

View of four men, three forest rangers and a civilian, around a sign at an entrance to a truck trail. Both the location and the date are unknown, but it is probably somewhere in the Adirondack Mountains between 1933 and 1938, as the sign mentions Lithgow Osborne as the commissioner of the Conservation Department. This image was created to record the forest fire control activities of the New York State Conservation Department.
