

The image shows a single page of a document, possibly a form or a report, oriented vertically. The page is filled with dense, handwritten or typed text, organized into several columns. There are various stamps, including a large circular one at the top left and several rectangular ones throughout the page. Some sections are clearly marked with headings, and there are tables with multiple rows and columns of data. The overall appearance is that of a technical or administrative document from a past era, with a focus on detailed information and structured data presentation.

The full title of this report is: "Environmental Health and Emergency Medical Services Report on the Woodstock Music and Art Fair (Aquarius Festival), White Lake, Bethel Town, Sullivan County, N.Y., August 15, 16, 17, 1969."

Page 3 of the document reports that "Young people, many of them bizarre in dress and manner poured into the area. ... These unusual people quickly took over the site... any attempt at this point to limit their numbers would have been dangerous if not impossible."

Pages 39-40 give a detailed list of medical cases requiring treatment, including 1 raccoon bite, 38 cases of sunburn, and numerous drug-related issues. While some patients were taken by helicopter for hospital treatment, the writer notes that most cases were "treated with TLC, supportive encouragement, etc".

The report consists of the following sections:

- Summary and Recommendations (by Daniel P. McMahon, M.D.); Plan for Environmental Health Services prepared and submitted by Woodstock Ventures, Inc.;

- Food services plan submitted by Food for Love, Inc.;

- Report, Environmental Health Service during the Fair (Mr. Gerald Lieber, P.E., Sr. Sanitary Engineer, Monticello Subdistrict, Oneonta District, NYS Health Department);

- Report of Emergency Medical Services during Fair furnished by William Abruzzi, M.D., Director of Medical Services, Woodstock Music and Art Fair;

- Report of C. B. Esselstyn, M.D., Director, Bureau of Emergency Medical Services, NYS Health Department;

- Report of A. A. Baskous, P. E., Albany Regional Director of Public Health Engineering, NYS Health Department.
