

Register of payments to Overseers of the Poor for children of enslaved people, part 2

The image displays a grid of 45 small, individual images of historical documents, arranged in 9 rows and 5 columns. Each document is a page of aged, yellowed paper with handwritten text in cursive. The text is dense and appears to be a list or register of entries. The documents are slightly tilted and have irregular edges, suggesting they are scans of physical pages. The overall layout is a structured grid, with the last row containing a smaller document in the fourth column position.
